Mandate on Local Agencies and School Districts

The Department of Food and Agriculture has determined that Section 3700 does not impose a new mandate on local agencies or school districts. There is an ongoing mandate created by the original adoption of this regulation. However, the amendment of this regulation, adding a new host to the articles and commodities covered, does not impose a new mandate on the local agencies. These local agencies are enforcing an ongoing mandate not impacted by the regulatory action. Additionally, the agricultural commissioners of Alameda, Contra Costa, Humboldt, Lake, Marin, Monterey, Mendocino, Napa, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Solano and Sonoma counties requested the amendment of this regulation. Therefore, no additional reimbursement is required for Section 3700 under Section 17561 of the Government Code.

The Department also has determined that no savings or increased costs to any state agency, no reimbursable costs or savings under Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) of Division 4 of the Government Code to local agencies or school districts, no nondiscretionary costs or savings to local agencies or school districts, and no costs or savings in federal funding to the State will result from the proposed action.

The cost impact of the changes in the regulations on a representative private person or business is not expected to be significantly adverse. The Department has also determined that this action will not have a significant adverse economic impact on housing costs or California businesses, including the ability of California businesses to compete with businesses in other states.

Assessment

The Department has made an assessment that this amendment to the regulations would not (1) create or eliminate jobs within California, (2) create new business or eliminate existing businesses within California, or (3) affect the expansion of businesses currently doing business within California.

Alternatives Considered

The Department of Food and Agriculture must determine that no alternative considered would be more effective in carrying out the purpose for which the action is proposed or would be as effective and less burdensome to affected private persons than the proposed action.
